Dear Editor:

We are greatly encouraged by the recent avid and active concern expressed by our board of selectmen for the plight of our region's homeless. The homeless are a group without many advocates in public office and we are very appreciative of our town leaders and their support.

We want to inform the public that all efforts are made each night to provide safe shelter to our guests. Safety, above all else, is our concern. We must thank Mike Paulhus for his attention to our needs and Mike Licata for his help. Please know that we are now actively working with our town officials to secure a more appropriate site for our shelter for our next season.

Please know also that without the great generosity of the individuals, businesses and organizations of the greater Windham community we would not be able to exist. Our costs have been significant this year and as we continue to search for a permanent home your continued support will be vital to our project.

With so many people having to work two or more jobs to make ends meet, stress and illness are often close companions. Missing a week or more of work can be financially devastating and often leads directly to homelessness. We serve a population that surprise most people when they visit. Many are people a lot like you and me who have fallen on very difficult times.

May we all be smiled upon for a brighter and more successful New Year.

Sincerely,
Tom McNally, Chair
